DETAILED ACTION

Status of the Claims

Claims 1-3 and 10-12 are pending wherein claims 4-9 are canceled.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-3 and 10-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Economy (US 3,565,611).

Claims 1-3 and 10-12 are rejected on the same grounds as stated in the Office Action of 16 February 2007.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 27 April 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

The Applicant primarily argues that Economy ('611) does not teach the critical rolling technique to attain the low angle boundary rate limitation. In response, the Examiner notes that the claims indicate that the low angle boundary rate of 4% or more occurs as a result of a solution treatment at 900°C or more or applying a heat treatment after solution treatment at 900°C or more. The claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re

Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993). Further, Economy ('611) teaches an overlapping composition; solution treating at 2200°F (1204°C); hot rolling to perform a reduction from 1 inch to 0.25 inch (75% reduction); annealing (heat treatment) at 2100°F (1149°C); cold rolling to perform a reduction to about 0.15 inch (about 40% reduction); annealing again at 2100°F; and machining to form a 0.12 inch thickness (25% reduction) (col. 2, line 63 – col. 3, line 52). Therefore, the low angle boundary rate of 4% or more and excellent resistance to intergranular stress corrosion cracking would be expected because there is no factual evidence in the record to show that the nickel alloy disclosed by Economy ('611) would have a different low angle boundary rate than that which is claimed in the instant invention. See MPEP 2112.01 I. The Examiner suggests the filing of 1.132 declaration with comparison low angle boundary rate data as a result of corresponding treatment temperatures (i.e. the steps disclosed by Economy ('611) versus the steps of the instant invention resulting in the 4% or more reduction with the same solution treatment and solution treatment followed by heat treatment temperatures (900°C or more) corresponding with those disclosed by Economy ('611)).

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within

TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
